Causes of Mob Violence.

THE SENTINEL a number of times has shown that the abuse of the pardoning power has had more to do than anything else in stimulating an increase of crime. It has also shown that the manner in which that power has been exercised by the present governor of Illinois has made it a direct incentive of lynch and mob violence. He has just pardoned a young convict from the Chester penitentiary in a manner that shows how little conception he has of the real purpose of executing the branch of the government of any state. The convict was the assistant cashier of the Chicago Tribune and had embezzled $13,000, became a fugitive from justice and was apprehended in Spain, brought home and tried and convicted and sent to prison for four years. It appeared that he had spent the money in gambling and gambling speculation. In pardoning him Gov. Altgeld said that "his only fault was that he was very young to assume such a responsible position as he held in the Tribune office; that, in fact, he had been paid a comparatively small salary; that the responsibility of the position was shared by an older and more experienced man employed in the position." In addition to that he said that because the Tribune company was making a large sum in profits each year this should be taken into account in considering the question of a pardon. For a man who claims to be a lawyer to utter such a statement is humiliating, not only to the intelligent citizens of Illinois, but to those of every other state in the Union, when they reflect upon the consequences of such gush and twaddle. The pardoning power is only for the purpose of rectifying mistakes that have been made by the court and jury on the trial and not for affording a governor an opportunity to exercise his ingenuity in defeating the purpose of the law. The foregoing is only a sample of the rot that Altgeld has indulged in the many cases in which he has grossly abused the pardoning power since he has been governor. No wonder Illinois mobs are multiplying with such disgraceful frequency recently.

The Discovery Saved Her Life.

Mr. G. Calhoun, Druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began to use and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial bottle at Clark O. Proud's drug store.

The School Text Book Law.

The present status of the school text book law calls for action on the part of the legislature. The contract which was entered into with the publishers of the text books used in the schools of this state expires next April. It provides for a fixed cost of the text books and the use of any other books than those specified in the contract is prohibited by law. If the contract expires without action on the part of the state, the law will still prohibit the use of other books but there will be no law as to the price to be charged by the publishers.

This condition of affairs would leave the state at the mercy of the school text book publishers and might lead to an excessive cost of the books used in the schools, in the absence of a fixed cost. While it is questionable whether the present arrangement is the best that could be devised, yet the legislature should take steps to protect the people from any possible oppression by the school book monopoly which has been established. Uniformity of text books is undoubtedly essential to the realization of the best results, but there are better ways of securing this uniformity than by farming out the contract to one firm for a term of years. The state should publish its own text books, as is done in some other states, with the best of results. Hundreds of thousands of dollars might be saved to the people by the establishment of such a policy. It is because the people are least disposed to complain of the matter of expense when the education of their children is concerned that there has been no particular agitation along this line. But the people are entitled to the best that their money will give.

It Does Not Cost Anything.

To try Parks' Sure Cure. A specific cure of all diseases peculiar to women. Ask your druggist our guaranteed plan. Sold by Clark O. Proud.

The Illinois legislature has passed a very sensible bill. It provides that news matter received through the official channels, and ordinary reports of occurrences published in good faith, and without malice, shall be regarded as privileged, and no damages shall be recovered in libel suits growing out of their publication, unless there shall be actual proof of damage to the plaintiff's business or reputation.

One of the first things that will confront the new congress when it meets will be the question of providing money to meet the Democratic deficiency.

There is but one way to do this and that is to increase the revenue by following Republican principles and increasing the tariff on articles on which it was reduced by the Democrats.

United States Prison Reform.

The selection of R. W. McClurg, of the United States penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, and the passage of the act of congress last winter to enable the United States to take care of its own convicts, marks a new era in the history of the administration of the federal criminal law. Hitherto the idea of reforming convicts under the federal criminal code cut a small figure, the sole object being severe punishment. To carry out this idea they were sent to state penitentiaries most convenient to the courts where they were sentenced, and with little reference to the method of administration in the prison to which they were sent. A very large number of persons who are yearly convicted of offenses and of other crimes connected with the currency, and for stealing against the postal laws, and for stealing from the mails, are young persons not yet so hardened in crime that their cases have become hopeless. This has prompted congress to establish a penitentiary in which the United States can care for its own convicts, and adopt its own rules in relation to their reformation. The experiment will be watched with great interest by all penologists and others interested in prison reform. If successful, the system will be extended so as to embrace all the prison wants of the federal government. The condition of the young convicts under federal law cannot be made worse by the change, and there is every reason to believe that it will be a decided improvement upon the old penitentiary system.

Cataract Cannot be Cured.

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease, cataract is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Cataract Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Cataract Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best known purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing cataract. Send for testimonials, free. E. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, price 75c.

A Michigan Reform.

A comparatively new idea in temperance legislation is the scheme of the Michigan legislature, embodied in the Wayne Anti-Treating bill recently passed. The text of this remarkable enactment is as follows:

"Section 1. The people of the state of Michigan enact that it shall be unlawful for any person to purchase for or give to another any spirituous, malt, brewed, fermented or vinous liquors for the drink in any saloon, barroom, bar, tavern or clubroom, where the same is kept for sale, by drink, or to treat another in any way in any of said places to a drink of such liquor.

"Section 2. No person shall sell to another a drink of said liquors, knowing the same is intended for another as a treat, or being intended thereby to prohibit the practice of treating, so called, to any of said liquors by the drink.

"Section 3. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof be subject to a fine of not more than $25 nor less than $5, or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding ten days, or both, such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court."

The Michigan Legislature has not come to the point where it is willing to absolutely prohibit a man from taking a drink himself, but it is determined that he shall not tempt any of his friends with the cup that inebriates. There is no doubt that the custom of "treating" is a pernicious one and productive of a great deal of drunkenness.

Some people always look fresh and young, while others look prematurely old, with skin dried up and wrinkled. The only difference between the two is the loss of vitality in the blood. People using Beggs' Blood Purifier and Blood Maker always look fresh and healthy. Sold and warranted by your popular Druggist, J. C. Philbrick.

There seems to be a parting of the ways between silver and wheat. And thus another of "Coin's" theories have been knocked into a cocked hat, that wheat and silver rise and fall together. The late frosts and the Hessian fly are daily driving wheat toward the dollar mark, but neither frosts, dry weather or the Hessian fly have had any effect on silver.

For whooping cough Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is excellent. By using it freely the disease is deprived of all dangerous consequences. There is no danger in giving the remedy to babies, and it is safe and reliable in every case of whooping cough, croup, and all other coughs. 50 cent bottle, for sale by Clark O. Proud, druggist.

The American farmer is getting tired of Democratic sneers at the home market. He has been studying the subject in the light of practical experience. The demand for his products is undiminished, but he feels the effect of the increased cost of cash through slack work and small wages, occasioned by the operation of the new tariff law. The farmer probably feels most sensibly and keenly any impairment of domestic industries. The fields are dependent upon the factories. They work together and usually benefit each other. The foreign market buys now from six to eight per cent of our farm products, while the starved and despoiled home market consumes from 92 to 94 per cent. The more this home market is protected in its various sources of vitality, the better it is for farmers. He has no chance in Europe except in times of war or famine.

We recommend Dr. Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure because we believe it a safe and reliable remedy. Its good effects are shown at once in cases of Cholera Morbus and similar complaints. T. S. Hinde, Oregon, Mo.

An increase of just 100,000,000 pounds is the sum total of our larger imports of foreign goods during the nine months ending March 31, 1895, as compared with our imports up to March 31, 1894. No wonder American wool is so cheap. This is free wool. How do the farmers like it?

Perfectly Cured

Limbs Swollen and Aching With Pains of Rheumatism

Restored to Good Health in Old Age by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I am glad to say that after eight years of suffering with rheumatism three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me. My limbs, which had been very painful and much swollen, have now been reduced to their normal size. All the doctors said I could not be cured at my age, but I am here for any one at any time, to consult me about the benefit Hood's Sarsaparilla has been in my case. I have not had an ache or a pain since Hood's cured me. I am Thankful For Good Health, so much so that I am only too willing to beg others by giving this testimonial. I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla too highly. I have recommended it to many, and I will continue to do so."

Moneys of the United States.

As some people do not understand in what moneys customs duties can be paid, the Louisville Commercial obtained from Surveyor Alford of that city the following extracts from the customs regulations:

Article 1220—Gold coins of the United States are receivable for duties at their nominal value in unlimited sums, provided the loss of weight by abrasion or ordinary wear does not exceed one-half of one percentum in twenty years, or in that proportion for a shorter period of circulation.

"Silver dollars of the United States, other than trade dollars, are receivable for duties at their nominal value in unlimited sums.

Silver half dollars, quarter dollars, dimes and half dimes are receivable for duties in sums not exceeding $10 in any one payment.

United States Treasury notes, and certificates of deposit of gold coin and bullion, and of standard silver dollars of the United States, are receivable for duties at their nominal value in unlimited amounts."

And yet there are persons who maintain that the government will receive nothing but gold in payment of duties, and will pay nothing but gold to liquidate its obligations. The facts are that in either case the government gives the people their choice.

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Tyler Co., W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says: "I gave me prompt relief. I find it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds." For sale by Clark O. Proud.

Unanswerable.

The Maryland Republican submits the following five propositions to its readers and claims they cannot be refuted.

"1. There is not a free country in the world to day that is not on a silver basis.

"2. There is not a gold standard country in the world to day that does not use silver for money along with gold.

"3. There is not a silver standard country in the world that uses any gold as money along with silver.

"4. There is not a silver standard country in the world to day that has more than one third of the circulation per capita of the United States.

"5. There is not a silver standard country in the world where the laboring man receives fair pay for his day's work."

There is great danger in neglecting Colic, Cholera and similar complaints. An absolutely prompt and safe cure is found in Dr. Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure. T. S. Hinde, Oregon, Mo.

Now And Then.

It is a good thing sometimes to make comparisons if they should turn out to be odious sometimes to some sets of fellows. The friends of the Gorman-Wilson act have told us to wait and see, and it would produce all that its friends claimed for it in the necessary amount of revenue, and that it would sell all the wheels of industry in motion again. Here by way of comparison what it has done with reference to the revenue. During the first nine months of the McKinley law it produced a surplus of revenue over the expenses of the government, amounting to $16,152,541. During the first nine months of the Gorman-Wilson law, the deficiency amounts to $56,719,950. There is no distinction here without a difference.

But if you desire to stop coughing, try Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup. It relieves instantly, and will effect a permanent cure quicker than any cough cure on the market. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00. A positive guarantee with every bottle. Sold by J. C. Philbrick, Oregon, Mo.

The Republican party will go into the campaign of 1896 with a righteous cause to fight for, a host of available candidates to choose from and the unswerving confidence of the people to support it.

Its course is clear, and victory stands waiting at the end of it.

LAND OF CONFUCIUS.

Miss Fanny Meyer Writes About the Land of the Almond-Eyed.

CHAPTER XIII.
Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have a row of them on each side of their walk; they grow very tall; theirs must be 12 or 15 feet high. They will be most beautiful when they are covered with their pink blossoms.

Outside the city wall it is one vast grave yard; the graves look like mounds than graves; they look very pretty now, covered as they are with grass and ferns and often with flowers. It makes one feel very sad to see them burning candles and incense at the graves. The other day when Helen and I were out in the country we saw a woman, with her little babe in her arms, kneeling at all her might; we could hear her for quite a distance, they think by doing this and the burning of incense they are worshipping the spirits of their departed ones. One sees so many sad things in the midst of heathenism. The Chinese are such a superstitious people. Last summer when there was a partial eclipse of the moon, they thought that there was a dog up there and that he was just about to swallow the moon, so they commenced to beat gongs and make all the racket they could; the eclipse did not last long, but they thought it was the noise they made that kept the dog from swallowing the moon. I sent the Chinese shoes, ribbon and silk for your waist out last week. I think I sent about 50 cents worth of ribbon. Your silk was not more than 10 cents per yard. I did not want to send any very expensive as I did not know if it would go through all right or not. They have such lovely silks and they are very cheap in comparison to what they are at home. I am glad you got the things I sent from Japan; the little shoes that were lost did not cost more than 1 or 2 cents.

I wonder if you get school is out. It is about time our teacher is coming, we take lessons on Saturdays the same as other days and have to study if the weather is warm. I know you feel sorry for me, don't you? I am so thankful my eyes are getting better.

We are invited to Mrs. Wiggins's for supper; they are English people. I am glad my new sedan chair is finished; it cost a little over four dollars. I do not like to ride in the street chairs, as they are inhabited by grey locks. George, dear, you will have to have some one who has been in the war explain what these things are and don't you ever tell anybody that I ever got any of them on. I have only found 2 or 3 but when I found the first one on the house boat I felt as if I was disgraced for life.

I think over a two yard letter is quite enough for one little boy. I have written this much to Mina and Nellie. I have written very hurriedly but trust it can be read. I don't think I am going to like seeing my letters in THE SENTINEL at all. If I was a good letter writer I would not mind it.

P. S. You will get this letter about the "Fourth of July." If it is hot there remember it is hotter here.
